OVER HALF BILLION FOR NAVY

CONGRESS RECEIVED WARNING THAT NAVY NEEDS ASSISTANCE

ADMIRAL LEAHY, CHIEF OF STAFF, SAYS SHIPS AND AIRCRAFT NECESSARY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Congress received a warning from the navy's chief of operations today that any delay in the shipbuilding or aircraft programs would "jeopardize" the nation's security.

Admiral William D. Leahy, testifying before a house appropriations subcommittee on the navy's financial needs, said the international situation was so serious the United States "must continue to maintain our national defense establishments at their highest efficiency."

"The political conditions in the world, both in Europe and the Far East, are more threatening than at any time since 1918, and are distinctly worse than a year ago," he said.

President Roosevelt is drafting a message expected to call for a naval construction program substantially in excess of present limitations.

The material condition of the navy's most powerful weapons—its battleships—is satisfactory, Leahy said but they "are rapidly approaching obsolescence."

Could Build 13 Battleships. Under these circumstances, he explained, it would be legal for the United States, under the Vinson-Trammell act, authorizing a "treaty navy," to build 13 battleships by 1942, including two now under construction and two for which an initial appropriation was included in the budget for the next fiscal year.

Admiral W. G. Du Bose, chief of the bureau of construction and repair, estimated it would take $280,000,000 to complete the 72

Sheriff Schmid Plans Straighten Misunderstanding

DALLAS, Jan. 17. (AP)—Sheriff Schmid will go to Corsicana tomorrow or Wednesday to straighten out a misunderstanding he said led to his being adjudged in contempt of court there Saturday and fined $100.

The sheriff was at his office today for the first time in several days, he and his family having been ill from food poisoning.

Sheriff Schmid was held in contempt of court for failing to serve a process here in a process issued out of court at Corsicana. The sheriff explained half a dozen efforts had been made to serve the papers but the papers had not been located.

Preference for the domestic allotment plan for agriculture, particularly cotton, was expressed in a meeting of the farmers of five counties held in the district courtroom Saturday afternoon with Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald as the principal speaker. The actual vote was 38 to 8, with a government compulsory control plan being offered in opposition.

ASTING DEAN SAYS NO TURNING BACK ON SPIRITUAL SEARCH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 17. (AP)—Dean Israel Harding, who said with conviction today there would be no "turning back" in his search for spiritual perfection and immortality.

"Nobody who has seen me can say I am taking food on the sly," the 46-year-old fasting leader of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral declared. "I look ghostly, you can see it."

Dean Harding spoke on his 16th day without food or water. He gave up the last material food—except for a communion wafer and sip of water—three times weekly—on January 2.

The dean revealed for the first time that before last year when he lived on oranges alone, he lived throughout 1936 on oranges and raw cashew nuts.

"The test is, will I be afraid," he said. "Will I be afraid to turn back? No, I know that I won't. I've been through all of this. I worked it out potentially, now I have to experience it. I know I can do it."

The dean started his congregation yesterday with the ultimatum: "Unless the church of Jesus Christ in this twentieth century can produce a demonstration of the fact that the whole gospel can be lived here and now, by man, the church will be compelled to close its doors and the sooner it closes its doors the better it will be for men."

LITTLE DOUBT THAT STANLEY F. REED IS TO BE CONFIRMED

NO OBJECTIONS TO SUPREME COURT NOMINATION HEARD FROM SENATORS

Logan said the subcommittee would meet Thursday "to see whether anyone wants to be heard."

At the same meeting the judiciary committee set up a subcommittee.

WORLD SITUATION STILL UNSETTLED AND COMPLICATED

FRANCE STARTS NEW EFFORT GET CABINET; CHINA REPORTS SUCCESSES

(By The Associated Press.) France started all over again today in the search for a new cabinet and the end of a four-day crisis, the Soviet Union put finishing touches to its new constitutional government, Spain's warriors marked time, while embattled China reported new successes.

The Spanish war was virtually stalled except for insurgent air raids along the eastern coast, but Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies, bolstered by Russian warplanes and pilots, were reported to have pushed the Japanese invasion back on the northern, central and Yangtze valley fronts. The British government, intently concerned by all these world developments, wrestled with a problem within what it considers the British "family"—negotiations with often recalcitrant Eire (formerly the Irish Free State) on trade, defense and political issues.

Prime Minister Eamon De Valera and his Irish ministers conferred at London with British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today, raising the question among others—of union between his nation and northern Ireland, and objective outlined in the new De Valera constitution.

Across the English channel France's government crisis had gone back much to where it started. Camille Chautemps, who declined last week to replace to form a new cabinet to replace his own People's Front government—wrecked by monetary and labor troubles—was called on again by President Albert Lebrun, Socialist Leader Leon Blum abandoned

PROPOSAL THAT GOVERNMENT BUY PRIVATE UTILITIES IN TENNESSEE VALLEY UNPOPULAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—A proposal that the government buy out the largest private utility group in the Tennessee Valley received scant support today from the first members of congress to discuss it.

Wendell L. Wilkie had suggested that "a last resort in a desperate situation the government purchase power companies in that area which are subsidiaries of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation. Wilkie is president of the latter company.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), leader of the bill power bloc in the house, was more favorably inclined toward the idea than other legislators who commented. He expressed willingness for such a purchase if the price was not based on "inflated values."

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house subcommittee on electric power, suggested that the utilities sell their distribution systems to cities in the area.

Meanwhile, one administration adviser expressed doubt the president would seek abolition of all business holding companies at this session of congress. Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference last

CHAUTEMPS AGAIN COMMISSIONED FORM FRENCH GOVERNMENT

PARIS, Jan. 17. (AP)—President Albert Lebrun today called upon Camille Chautemps to end France's four-day cabinet crisis when Leon Blum, socialist leader, abandoned efforts to form a "national union" government.

Radical socialist deputies said Chautemps, a radical socialist, was being charged with formation of a ministry to succeed his own cabinet, which resigned Friday in the face of financial and labor troubles.

Blum, who had been designated after he had blocked efforts by C. Rege Bonnet, radical socialist, to form a government, had met with conservative opposition for his plan to draw support from centrist factions for the People's Front lineup of socialists, communists and radical socialists.

NAVY'S AERONAUTICS BUREAU SETS HIGHER PLANES OBJECTIVE

TO SEEK OVER TWO THOUSAND AIRPLANES BY YEAR 1941 REPORT SHOWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The navy's aeronautics bureau has set an objective of 2,050 airplanes by 1941, compared with an earlier goal of 1,910.

Rear Admiral A. B. Cook, chief of the bureau, disclosed the number of aircraft now considered necessary to accompany the current ship construction program at hearings on the navy's appropriation bill, made public today.

He said, however, the new objective "has not yet had the approval of the navy department."

It is based, he added, on increasing some marine squadrons from 12 to 18 planes and providing additional planes for training at the Pensacola, Fla., air station and for other shore stations.

No appreciable increase is contemplated, Cook said, in the number of the fleet.

The aviation program, the admiral said, calls for 1,921 planes in the next fiscal year, but reductions in funds approved by the budget bureau are expected to result in having 1,870 available or awaiting delivery on July 1, 1938.

The budget estimates, he said, provide for replacement of 284 regular navy and naval reserve air planes and for 35 to increase the naval air force.

Cook testified that the $28,800,000 provided for airplane purchases in the current fiscal year would buy only 320 planes, whereas it had been estimated the funds would be sufficient for 387. He said airplane costs generally had gone up.

"I consider that, insofar as quality goes, our planes are the equal of, and in some cases superior to, any planes built abroad," Cook said.

Business Sector Kilgore Facing Oil Fire Threat

KILGORE, Jan. 17. (AP)—Scores of firefighters fought vainly this afternoon to stem a wild-blazing oil well which threatened to ignite a dozen buildings in the heart of the city.

In the first hour the 60-foot flames caused damage estimated at $50,000, including $25,000 worth of furniture stored in a nearby warehouse. The warehouse was partly burned down.

The Crane Memorial hospital, 25 feet from the uncontrolled flames, also was burned on the adjacent side. Five patients were quickly evacuated when the fire broke out. A fight to stem the burning slightly was the only known casualty.

Five or six thousand persons crowded as closely as they could see the fire.

SHIPMASTER'S TESTIMONY OF CONDITION ABOARD AMERICAN MERCHANT SHIPS DRAWS FIRE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—An assertion that discipline had broken down on American merchant ships drew from C. I. J. maritime unions today the reply that closed senate hearings were being used in an attempt "to scare congress into passing coercive legislation for the seamen."

Testimony of an unidentified shipmaster that "our ships are infested with thugs, thieves, gamblers, dope runners, drunkards, and racketeers of all descriptions" was made public Saturday by Chairman Copeland (D-N.Y.) of the senate commerce committee.

"The shipmaster, who said he was 'liable to have a bullet in my back' if his name was disclosed, declared he had seen discipline 'vanish entirely during the last two years.'"

Ralph Emerson, legislative representative of the unions, replied in a statement:

"It is obvious why his name was suppressed. It is not because, as he has been instructed to say, he would be killed (which is ridiculous), but rather because his statements will not bear scrutiny."

Emerson declared the committee hearings had become "an out-and-out prosecution of American seamen—with even the most rudimentary rules of evidence thrown to the winds."

Steamer Sinks S.O.S.

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 17. (AP)—The Italian steamer Ischia, drifting in the Tungkong Gulf off Hainan Island, sent out an S.O.S. today requesting immediate assistance. ### HOUSE COMMITTEE REPORTS BIG SUPPLY BILL FOR SEA POWER

LESS THAN BUDGET ESTIMATE BUT INCREASE OVER PAST YEAR'S SPENDING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The house appropriations committee, recommended today a $553,266,494 appropriation to finance the navy in the coming fiscal year—an increase of $26,723,186 over the current year.

Although the total was $11,133,967 less than the budget requested it would permit start of construction of 22 new ships—two battleships to cost $70,850,300 each; two cruisers, eight destroyers, six submarines and four auxiliary vessels.

In addition, the committee recommended funds to continue construction of more than 70 ships already under way. The total for both continuing and new construction was $138,063,157, a reduction of $9,636,850 from budget estimates.

The proposed construction may be expanded substantially as a result of a message President Roosevelt is expected to send to congress in the near future, outlining plans for strengthening the fleet in the light of world conditions which he said were causing him "growing concern."

The committee, in reporting the bill to the house, made no reference to the international situation but some of the items as approved, in addition to new ship construction, appeared significant.

One was $1,277,000 to reopen the torpedo manufacturing plant at Alexandria, Va., to supplement the output of the torpedo plant at Newport, R. I. The committee said the Newport factory was on a "very old" plant which was unable to produce only about half the necessary quantity for the next six years.

The committee also reversed its previous stand and recommended the recommissioning of the ammunition ship Pyro at a cost of about $135,200. Funds for this purpose were refused last year.

In one of the few instances where it increased amounts recommended last year.

Two Girls and Boy Held in Robbery; Two Youths Sought

SAN MARCOS, Jan. 17. (AP)—County Attorney Henry C. Kyle today said burglary and theft charges would be filed against two Alabama school girls and a Kentucky youth in connection with an attempted store robbery thwarted by a nightwatchman.

The federal bureau of investigation agents, sources here said, were expected to investigate activities of the trio relating to possible transportation of stolen cars across state lines. Sheriff M. M. Wren held two cars, one of which he said was stolen at Jennings, La., and the other at Owensboro, Ky.

No trace was found of two other youths who were with the trio. Kyle sought to find out if the girls left Decatur, Ala., last Wednesday night with the three Kentucky boys.

Officers had a report the escaped pair caught a ride on a truck to Austin.

Nightwatchman H. A. Fisher said he made the arrest as he looted from the store was being loaded into autos. He said the two boys, who were inside, escaped by lowering themselves from the second story with ropes made of curtains. Value of loot recovered was estimated at $500.

BAYLOR CO-ED OF TODAY HAS GREATER SOCIAL PRIVILEGES

WACO, Jan. 17.—(Spl.)—Baylor co-eds today consider themselves lucky—even though they do have to be in their dormitories at 10:45 o'clock, even on late permission. It was quite different in 1845, when the university was first established at old Independence. Today the co-ed smilingly rejoices to her swain that she has the "privilege of privileges," permission to remain out late—late, of course, meaning 10:45. Some times even that hour does not seem late enough and couples rush fearfully to a dormitory, finding they must ring the bell and be admitted by a scolding matron.

In the old days at Independence, Baylor girls never thought of leaving their rooms after dark, much less the dormitories. Flies roved the rule when Baylor was established said: "Be in by dark." That was for winter as well as summertime.

More direct control over students was invested in the president, 1800 records reveal. Students were called on the carpet by the proxy himself and the story is told that often the carpets were threaded. The president sent out monthly reports to parents on the "literary and moral standing" of every son and daughter in the school.

Another power of the president was to publicly reprimand any student guilty of using profane or obscene language. A third offense meant dismissal.

Automobile Burns.

KERENS, Jan. 17.—(Spl.)—While "possum hunting" last Friday night, Chester Keyser had the misfortune, to have his car burned. Leaving it parked in the woods, while he followed the dogs, he returned to find it entirely consumed by fire. It was said to have been a complete loss.

The pastor, Rev. V. H. Smith, spoke at the Sunday morning service. "And With Fire" was the sermon subject and text found in Matt. 3:1-2. This message inspired everyone on to a deeper consecration and closer walk with God.

The services for the week include the Tarry service Tuesday night, W. M. C. Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, and the regular Thursday night Bible study. Come and enjoy the blessings of God with us. You are welcome. REPORTER.

Attendance at Sunday school showed an increase over that of last Sunday and it is believed that it will soon be gaining rapidly.

Rev. E. B. Byus, the pastor, spoke at the morning worship hour on another timely message, "The Sufficiency of Jesus for This Modern World."

The leaguers at their evening worship program, enjoyed a very interesting subject, "Hand and Heart." Miss Frances Inman directed the program. "Blindness" was Rev. Mr. Byus' evening message, which proved to be as interesting as the morning subject.

CROP CONTROL

loan was the only aid secured from Congress. Mr. Allison asserted that in the only attempt made by the state of Texas to aid the farmer, he believed hidden interests had worked to secure the passage of legislation that would be immediately declared unconstitutional in order to protect selfish interests. He asserted that the economic structure, all other business must of a necessity decline. He introduced Mr. McDonald as the outstanding and most consistent champion of agriculture in the state, and in the south.

Cotton, Greatest Crop. In his introductory remarks, the commissioner declared that the cotton crop of 1937 was a record, and pointed out that a critical situation had arisen because the farmers of America and particularly of the south had been unable to produce a surplus of cotton to pay their debts or to meet the needs of the world.

He also reviewed the ideas of President Roosevelt on agriculture and the legislation that had been provided, but termed it all temporary and said now the search was for a law that would give the farmer a fair return in terms of the things he had to produce for his products.

Mr. McDonald said that he spent about five weeks in Washington late in 1937 and that Congress was hopelessly lost in its struggle to develop a real program for agriculture, and were divided by the most heated and dissension that had been visible in a lifetime. He said that the efforts to force through the anti-lynching bill, disputes over court revision, and over the wage-hour legislation; old breaks have been re-opened, that may result in serious damages to all parties.

The commissioner stated that he had received a telephone call after arriving in Corsicana from a colleague, Colonel Albert T. Wood of New Mexico, asking him to come to Washington as soon as possible, and passed along a rumor that had been partially confirmed. Mr. Byus, the pastor, was preparing to call the house and senate committees on agriculture together and tell them to junk their present measures and start over again.

Mr. McDonald stated that the farmers could have whatever legislation they wanted if they would make it their business to get their congressmen, and insisted the farmers were the only ones who could write a workable bill. The commissioner recalled he had been advocate of the domestic allotment plan for three years and launched into a discussion of the way the scheme would work. He insisted it had been modified from the early versions, and represented the best possible solution offered to date.

Mr. McDonald stated that each farmer entering the program would have a production base fixed for him with a local committee which would be figured on soil type, average production, and good soil conservation practices, and the base would be registered in Washington. That the farmer would be entitled to participate in the sale of cotton for domestic consumption on this base, which in most cases would mean that half of the average crop would be used for local markets; the farmer could either reduce his production to approximately half his base and get full benefit from the local consumption or he could enter the remainder of his crop in the world market and hope to get back the cost of production.

The farmer would then receive a premium price for the portion of his crop sold for domestic use, which would give him the same protection against falling market prices. He pointed out that the excess production from one year would be crop insurance for the next, and would give an ever-normal granary to protect the consumer against famine prices and would also be a sound basis of credit for the producer. He asserted that the making of the basis on postage rather than on acreage would aid in planning and good conservation practices.

Mr. McDonald retraced the history of the 1937 cotton loan which came after being unanimously demanded by the cotton-growing states; another feature of the allotment plan would be a requirement that not less than twenty per cent of loan cotton should be placed in the American market quota each year on a pro rata basis which would provide the farmer with a means of repaying loans.

To proponents of compulsory control, the commissioner declared that such a policy was an incentive to other cotton-producing nations to intensify their efforts toward the planting of more cotton and pointed out that other nations had increased production from eleven and a half million bales in 1931 to 21 million bales in 1937. He asserted that the United States no longer was the dominant figure in the cotton world because it no longer produced the majority of the world cotton.

He declared that a fifty per cent cut in acreage in 1938 would not be likely to raise the market price of cotton a single cent and might even result in a lower price. He declared any plan must have a support for a price structure on at least a part of production or the farmer would receive no benefits. He told of extensive purchase of cottonseed in Texas late in 1937 by the Italian government, a part of a plan for the planting of cotton in conquered Ethiopia.

Japs Seek World Trade. Mr. McDonald also quoted the United States ambassador to the United States as telling a group in Washington that the main purpose behind Japan's invasion of his country was the securing of the rich agricultural sections and ports so they might become a world trade power. The Chinese representative said that the portions of China yielded under Japanese methods of cultivation would be capable of producing unlimited crops of all kinds. The commissioner pointed out that Japan had been one of America's principal cotton purchasers prior to the time in making his point that world markets were gone. He listed other competition to the United States in the growing usage of synthetics and results of chemistry. He insisted the allotment plan was the only one that could be established and made effective in this crop season.

The commissioner said the plan called for financing by the levying of an excise or sales tax on the finished products, similar to the levy on cigarettes or gasoline, and also on all imports and all competitive fibres except wool and mohair. He declared that such a program would greatly encourage the use of more cotton in America and would aid the farmers in making a united drive against certain materials that have been supplanting the use of American staple.

During the question period that followed the explanation, the commissioner stated that the non-complaint of one who did not have a production base established would be no different from his present condition and would be free to compete in the world market, but would not participate in the profits from the domestic market.

Conditions Changed. Mr. McDonald said that agriculture had to realize that conditions were now radically changed in that the industry could no longer expect a supplement from the development needs of new sections of the country; and also that America had changed from a debtor to a creditor nation which made foreign nations seek other places of trade since they owed us money and we had no need of the goods which they offered in payment. He also reported that 90 per cent of the bankers favored the allotment plans and had termed it the only one which would allow them to finance producers this year.

On a standing vote, eight persons favored the compulsory control plan, and 38 voted in favor of the allotment plan. At the close of the meeting, Commissioner McDonald approved the following definition of his proposal:

"The domestic allotment plan provides for the voluntary establishment of production bases in units (pounds or bushels and not acres) and price-structure provisions to intensify their efforts toward the planting of more cotton and pointed out that other nations had increased production from eleven and a half million bales in 1931 to 21 million bales in 1937. He asserted that the United States no longer was the dominant figure in the cotton world because it no longer produced the majority of the world cotton.

PRESIDENT APPOINTS SOLICITOR GENERAL ASSOCIATE JUSTICE

STANLEY REED WILL SUCCEED GEORGE SUTHERLAND ON HIGH COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)—President Roosevelt chose Solicitor General Stanley Reed today to succeed Associate Justice George Sutherland as a member of the supreme court.

The 53-year-old attorney can take the seat upon confirmation by the senate, at any time after January 18, when the retirement of the 75-year-old Sutherland becomes effective.

Reed is the second man to be named to the high bench by Mr. Roosevelt. His selection clinches the shift on the court's complexion from conservative to liberal.

Several senators greeted the appointment with quick words of praise but it was generally believed that the senate judiciary committee would go through its usual confirmation routine before a vote of confirmation finally is taken.

Many senators are critical of the administration, including leaders in the fight last year against the president's court reorganization proposal, remember the controversy which bitterly divided the senate over the court selection—Hugo L. Black, who before his elevation to the bench was Democratic senator from Alabama.

Chairman Ashurst of the senate judiciary committee immediately referred Reed's nomination to a subcommittee for study. The subcommittee was expected to start considering the nomination today.

Later Ashurst asserted hearings certainly would be held, possibly starting late next week. The subcommittee "will hear any coherent evidence, any lenient or otherwise," he said, "the Arizona added."

"The hearings will be fully open to the public," he continued. "About the same time Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, declared Reed 'is qualified, and his nomination is satisfactory to the senate.'"

Reed himself issued a statement shortly after his nomination. It was four words long: "I am deeply grateful."

Cardozo Seriously Ill. Meanwhile, Justice Benjamin Cardozo, long considered one of the court's most consistent liberal members, lay seriously ill of heart trouble.

Informal persons expressed a belief that he faced a lengthy illness and that his retirement from the court was a distinct possibility.

Such a development would give Mr. Roosevelt the opportunity to make a third appointment.

Reed has been considered a possible court nominee for many months. He has had years of experience in supreme court procedure. As solicitor general he has had the task of defending principal administration laws before the tribunal.

Word that the nomination would be made today spread through the capitol a few minutes before it was presented to the senate by Maurice C. Latta, White House executive clerk.

On the senate floor, where copies of the nomination were quickly passed among senators by pages, knots of excited conversations formed speedily.

Born in Kentucky, Reed, Ky., Dec. 31, 1884, and practiced law there after studying in Kentucky Wesleyan College, Yale, the University of Virginia, Columbia, and the Georgetown Law School.

As solicitor general he has carried the burden of arguing many of the New Deal's biggest cases before the supreme court during the Roosevelt administration.

He is known to have made a highly favorable impression among lawyers and even his opponents frequently have congratulated him on his arguments before the tribunal.

Heavy-set and bald, Reed is an eloquent speaker. He is never at a loss for words and expresses his ideas in a masterly manner.

His immediate reaction to his nomination by the senators who could be judged by their expression was apparently prompt consideration.

As indicated in informed quarters that the judiciary committee would consider Reed's nomination promptly. In the past, Reed has expressed varying views as to whether hearings should be held.

Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.) of the committee has asserted that the hearings will be open to the public. Demand for hearings on the nomination was made after the Black v. Carter case.

Senator Logan (D-Ky.), a member of the committee, has expressed the view, however, that hearings would be unnecessary if members of the committee were personally acquainted with the supreme court nominee.

Senator Capper (R-Kan.) said he believed the president "could not have found a better man for the place."

He predicted the senate would confirm the nomination readily. Although a Democrat, Reed was appointed counsel for the farm credit board under President Hoover in 1931.

Made Good Impression. Later he became counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He was called to the solicitor general post only in the Roosevelt administration.

While with the RFC he participated in arguments for the government on the famous "gold clause" litigation. He made such a good impression that he quickly was promoted to the higher post.

Among the New Deal cases Reed participated in were AAA, NRA, and the Wagner labor relations act.

During the present term he argued for the government in litigation involving the questions of whether the treasury must pay interest on gold certificates called for redemption in advance of the maturity date and on whether the federal government can tax the income of certain state employees.

Very hard worker, Reed became so exhausted while arguing before the court in de-

HOUSE MILITARY AFFAIRS CHAIRMAN SEEK BIGGER ARMY

REP. MAY WANTS LAND BRANCH EXPANDED ALONG WITH NAVY UNITS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)—Rep. May (D-Pa.), new elected chairman of the house military affairs committee, urged today that army expansion be kept in step with the proposed strengthening of naval forces.

May said he would confer next week with General Malin Craig, chief of staff, about building up the non-combat forces.

How much or in what departments the army should be bolstered. From other house members, however, came suggestions for the immediate purchase of automatic rifles and other modern equipment, in large quantities.

Members of the house naval committee disagreed. Representative Vreeland's message asking a new naval construction program would not be sent to congress until the house completes action on the regular annual naval appropriation bill about the middle of next week.

Funds to start construction of 22 new naval vessels were recommended by the committee in the regular measure but the president is expected to request authorization for a huge construction program which would expand the navy well beyond the limits of the deficit London naval treaty.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee has completed a bill to carry out the president's proposal, but has refused to divulge its contents in advance of the message.

Well-informed house members said, however, the bill would provide between 37 and 40 warships—three battleships, three or four heavy cruisers, a similar number of light cruisers, 20 destroyers, six submarines and three aircraft carriers. They said the program also would call for aircraft construction about 20 per cent in excess of treaty strength.

Because two battleships to cost $80,000,000 apiece already are under construction and funds for two more are to be provided in the forthcoming regular supply bill, members said it was unlikely that any of the three in the expanded program would be begun before the end of 1939.

fense of the Bankhead cotton production control act. He recovered within a few days.

Leaders Approve Choice. WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)—Joining in praise by democratic senators of the recent selection of President Roosevelt's selection of Stanley Reed, solicitor general, for a place on the supreme court bench, Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Texas), said:

"He is an able lawyer and a good appointment." Senator Connally (D-Tex.) described Reed as "an able, accomplished lawyer of the conservative type."

FORMER PRESIDENT CRITICIZES PRESENT ADMINISTRATION ACT

DECLARES OPPORTUNITY TO PROMOTE WORLD PEACE DESTROYED IN 1933

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—(P)—Former President Herbert Hoover, discussing a proposed eight-point program of American policies for peace, today criticized the present United States government once "destroyed" an opportunity to promote a world peace based on economic prosperity.

"It does not need to be emphasized that prosperity is the best sedative to hate," said Mr. Hoover in declaring the world has been engaged "in an open or submerged trade war since 1932."

"The unparalleled opportunity to have brought some measure of economic peace was lost when the world economic conference was delayed and finally destroyed by our policy in 1933," the former president declared.

Mr. Hoover spoke before the San Francisco section of the Women's National Republican Club.

The present neutrality act and administration policies were censured by Mr. Hoover. The act, he said, might even get America into war.

He believed this law would collapse the first contact with realities. It already has proved absurd in the first war it met.

"For if there is humor in such events, the only effect has been to make it clear to Japan and China that we have no intention of making war, and therefore there is excuse that the law does not operate."

Declaring America neither wants nor has any purpose in war, Mr. Hoover said this nation, however, must keep world respect and protect its citizens abroad, "where our citizens insist on acting recklessly, their faith that we will jeopardize the future of our democracy should be made more and more remote."

MOTORISTS WITH DEFECTIVE LIGHTS GIVEN WARNINGS

Drivers of six automobiles have been given notices to have defective lights repaired or face prosecution by city officers during the past two days under a new policy inaugurated by the police department.

Under the new plan, motorists are given notices listing the defects in the lighting system, and are then given 24 hours in which to have them repaired. When repaired the motorists are supposed to call by the fire department where a man has been assigned to inspect the work done and see that the car meets legal requirements. If the repairs are not made or the inspection carried out, police officials said charges would be filed against the motorists.

CONGRESS LEADERS SEEKING AGREEMENT ON FARM PROGRAM TAKING WEEK-END RECESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)—Congressional leaders, after two weeks of trying to agree on a "all weather farm program" asked by President Roosevelt, took a week end recess today in the hope cotton belt spokesmen could compromise on control provisions for that crop.

Members of the senate-house group appointed to adjust differences between separate "ever-normal granary" bills said a tenacious contest was under way between Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) author of the senate cotton plan, and Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee.

Bankhead advocated a rigid compulsory cotton control program effective this year with penalties as high as $30 a bale at present cotton prices.

Jones is backing the more voluntary house cotton provisions which would delay marketing controls until 1939 and limit penalties to $10 a bale.

Once these differences have been composed, conference expected quick disposition of other details, including provisions for corn.

Bankhead said the group tentatively had compromised on differences concerning acreage allotments.

The senate bill called for cotton production on basis of bales, he explained, with there to be divided among states and counties, and then turned to acres "when it gets down to individual farmers."

"Our theory was that acres do not move in interstate commerce," Bankhead said. "Bales do."

The Alabama said the tentative compromise would allot the national cotton quota on a bale basis to states, and then shift this to acreage in allotments to counties and farms.

Agreement also was reported on how to determine the "normal supply of cotton," Bankhead said. This would be average annual domestic consumption and exports for the past 10 years, plus 35 per cent of this for a reserve.

GERMAN JEWS DECIDE ONLY WAY OUT FOR THEM IS TO EMIGRATE; ASSISTANCE IN MOVE IS ASKED

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—(P)—The purge of Jews from German economic and social life left them convinced today the only solution of their plight was emigration.

A resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the German Jewish Council urged immediately to the Palestine government and countries overseas to assist with emigration plans.

Dr. Leo Baek, president of the council, took occasion to note that Jewry's position throughout the world was becoming more difficult.

The council especially recommended pending young German Jews to Palestine, to cooperate in building up the national home there.

Thinly populated countries were asked to revise immigration laws to make possible the settlement of a greater number of Jews.

The council asked the German government to stop any further curtailment of Jewish economic privileges, especially any act which might make elderly Jews become burdens on public welfare institutions.

SHEPPARD PREDICTS CONGRESS TO BE FACED WITH PROHIBITION QUESTION AGAIN FEW YEARS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)—Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.), author of the Eighteenth Amendment, forecast today that congress would soon be called upon again to enact prohibition legislation.

In his annual senate address on the anniversary of the Eighteenth Amendment, Sheppard declared:

"It is my conviction that the American people will not tolerate this evil much longer, and as federal lawmakers once again to enact prohibition legislation to end the greatest social menace in the history of civilization—the traffic in beverage alcohol, a traffic that expends millions to keep the alcoholic traffic alive."

Sheppard said recent majority votes in Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee against legal liquor sales were "striking indications that the people are becoming disenchanted and convinced that repeal promises have not been kept."

"The three elections, however, were 'too few to be conclusive of the general state of public sentiment.'"

"I do not do to say that prohibition will not prohibit," Sheppard said. "It will prohibit if public opinion is sufficiently behind it."

Sheppard asserted that repeal had brought an increase in the number of criminal offenses for which liquor is responsible.

"In a struggle for material existence, he observed with reference to the alcoholic traffic, 'we have raised the dollar above the soul.'"

SHERIFF OF DALLAS COUNTY FINED HERE ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

COURT ALLEGES FAILURE TO SERVE PROCESS ISSUED BY JUDGE HOWELL

R. A. (Smoot) Schmid, Dallas county sheriff, was fined $100 by Judge Lex Smith, sitting as special judge in local court in the place of Judge Wayne R. Howell, for his alleged failure to serve a process ordered served several days ago by Judge Howell for a hearing Saturday on a custody of child proceedings instituted by Judge Howell against his former wife, Margaret R. Pritchett. The Dallas sheriff also was ordered to appear in district court here next Saturday and show cause why he should not further be held in contempt.

A divorce was granted May 18, 1936, between Mr. and Mrs. Pritchett with the provision that the father could have custody of child, Barbara Jean, each on Sunday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. The petition alleged that since Sept. 1937, the mother and daughter have resided in Dallas and the proceedings brought against the father were for custody of the daughter. The process was forwarded to the Dallas sheriff for service Jan. 7, 1938, for Mrs. Pritchett to appear here Saturday morning, but was not served by the Dallas sheriff, the petition stated.

District Clerk Doyle Pevhouse stated that he issued a new arrestment Saturday afternoon on orders of the district judge for the Dallas sheriff and would forward them to the constable of precinct Dallas county, for the arrest of Schmid.

Judge Smith is judge of the Eighty-seventh judicial district, and is exchanging benches with Judge Howell, who is judge of the trial of a civil case in which Judge Howell was disqualified. He returned to his own district early Saturday afternoon, Judge Howell being in Dallas for the trial of this week for Judge Smith.

Pritchett's attorney is Judge J. S. Callicutt.

Beauty Diary

of Edna Kent Forbes
ROLLER SKATING FOR BEAUTY

Miss Forbes suggests a possible outdoor sport that is democratic, and costs nothing, while bringing health and beauty to women of all ages.

There is a growing feeling among women that beauty is based upon health. Hence, the number of rollers who are walking groups roller skating both outdoors and in the rinks. While women have done a great deal of outdoor exercising, it was usually tennis or golf but their numbers were naturally limited. Most women, for different reasons, cannot have the benefits of these sports, but almost all of them are able to walk. Walking by oneself isn't much fun; and, besides, a busy woman will not keep an engagement of this kind just with herself. Once she belongs to a group or club, and definite time is arranged for the mutual pleasure she will keep the time for it.

Roller skating is preferred by others, and less time is needed for this form of exercising, as distance need not be considered, just a suitable rounded. Women of all ages are indulging in this very simple, though exhilarating exercise in the big cities. No one thinks anything of seeing these skaters, of an evening, rolling by singly or in a small group. In Central Park, in New York City, almost every evening there will be found jolly groups of women, all roller skating. It is usually an impromptu party, or mostly complete strangers, all out for the same reason. The women of wealth who are looking out for their figures and the women who have sat tight at a job all day, and need to get into the air and get the blood circulating throughout their entire bodies. The only requirements are a pair of skates, and enough good humor. One woman, middle-aged, told me she had chased off years along with a matronly abdomen, by skating an hour three evenings a week.

Mrs. K. F. Whiteheads and blackheads come pretty much from the same cause, sluggish action of the skin, and the pores get clogged. But with the whitehead, the skin grows over the head, while with the other, the clog is exposed and collects soil. The whitehead is harder to clear out, but it may be done with persistence.

KILLER OF COUPLE DIED ON GALLOWS IN MONTANA TODAY

COLUMBUS, Mont., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Frank Robideau, 47, who murdered Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuntz of Wheat Basin, Mont., Nov. 26, and brutally beat their five-year-old son, died today thinking of his own family.

At the temporary gallows erected in a machinery shed here, Robideau stepped on the scaffold and said:

"About all I wish to say is if you have any sympathy to show, don't show it to me but show it to my wife and family as they need it. I don't. That's all I have to say."

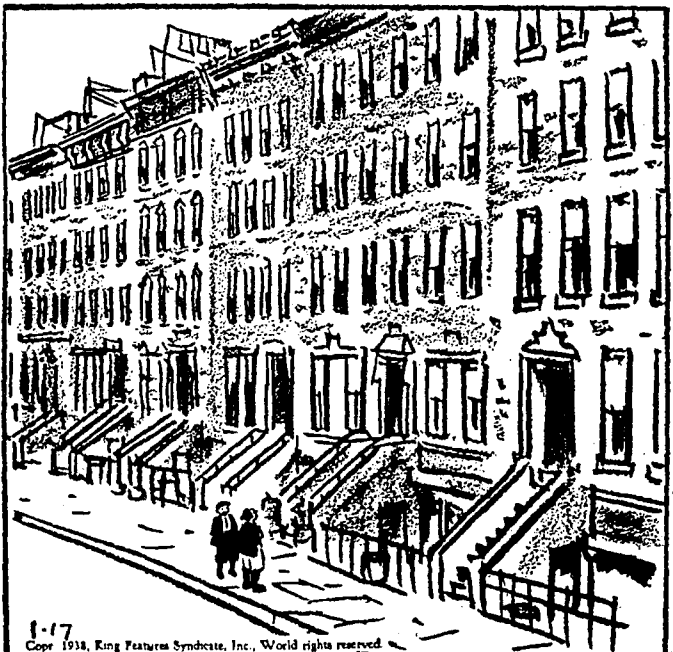

Robideau confessed, after long questioning, he killed the couple in their automobile between Columbus and Wheat Basin. He said he shot Kuntz because Kuntz backed down on an agreement to "shoot it out" to settle an argument over ownership of some grain at the Kuntz elevator. He said he was obliged to shoot Mrs. Kuntz when she grabbed his gun.

Robideau said he parked the Kuntz automobile in the elevator and left young Larry Kuntz, beaten unconscious, with the bodies of his parents.
